

ASHKAR WINE نبيذ اشقر

Since ancient times, wine has symbolized joy and celebration, but Ashkar Winery's story is more complex. The Ashkar family hails from Iqrit, a Palestinian Christian village in the Upper Galilee, where wine was produced for generations until their land was seized in 1948. Despite promises of return, Iqrit was destroyed, and its inhabitants were displaced. In 2010, Nemi Ashkar re-established the winery in Kufur Yasif, driven by a desire to reclaim his homeland. Ashkar Winery represents both a tribute to Iqrit's vinous history and the family's ongoing struggle for return.
